What is an FRG Consultation?

Background:

The FRG consultation process is used to efficiently gain stakeholder input on matters that affect the reliability forecast or ISP, including:

- updated material inputs,
- draft component forecasts, and
- changes to data sources or methodologies that do not require a formal methodology consultation

The Process:

- Topic listed on FRG meeting agenda.
- Presentation should be circulated ahead of the FRG meeting as per the FRG Terms of Reference and include background, proposed change and justification.
- Presentation and discussion at FRG meeting.
- Opportunity for verbal/written feedback for two weeks following the FRG meeting.
- Conclusion summarised prior to the following FRG meeting.
- Conclusion and submissions received to be published on AEMO's website.

FRG Consultations have multiple feedback opportunities
