Def – Transaction	AGL noted that the current definition did not seem correct. For example, a request for a meter investigation may not lead to a change in standing data, and would therefore not be captured by the definition. AEMO has requested a redrafting which is now supplied.	“ transaction ” means the process initiated by the lodgement of a request or notice with AEMO to AEMO or another participant under these procedures , which if completed, will result in an amendment to the AEMO standing data. Cl 138	Determination for meter change from basic to interval and interval to basic	AGL supports the position that the definition be clear about the requirements and conditions to both upgrading a basic meter to an interval meter, or downgrading an interval meter to a basic meter, and such determination is made by the network operator in conjunction with the User.
