6.1 Customer Data Right (CDR)

Meghan Bibby (AEMO) provided an update on the progression of the CDR. The Federal government have published the final rules on 12 November 2021. The publication is the model where retailers are the primary data source and AEMO is the secondary source. Four tranches will occur for progressive commencement from November 2022.

Moving forward, the CDR agenda item is to be a watching brief, removed from the standing agenda and forward work plan.

6.2 AEMC Review of Metering Competition

Meghan Bibby (AEMO) provided an update on the progression of Metering Competition.

The AEMC committed to a review of Power Of Choice Metering Competition three years after December 2017. The review commenced in late 2020, however, due to the current high levels of work at the AEMC, this review is paused until April/May 2022 when it will recommence at the draft stage.

7. Matters for Decision

7.1. Shared Fuse ICF

Meghan Bibby (AEMO) highlighted the change proposal from Vector Metering is to provide a standardised, secure communication tool using a new One Way Notification (OWN) to enable the Metering Coordinator Planned Interruption rule change requirements. The IEC discussed and accepted the change proposal. The IEC asked that the B2B-WG put together the appropriate change pack (Action item 0712-01).

7.2. Coincident Services

Meghan Bibby (AEMO) gave an overview of the Coincident Service Order change proposal paper. Two solutions were identified as preferable:

- Single service order Notified Party proposal.
- Two-service order proposal.

The IEC discussed the proposal and considered referring the issue to the AEMC for their inclusion in their current Review of Metering Competition. The IEC identified further questions that needed to be answered and accepted the proposal to go to consultation on both options presented. The IEC asked that the B2B-WG put together the appropriate change pack and include the following questions:

- What are the incremental costs expected to deliver each of the proposed solutions? This should not include costs already spent.
- What is the size of the issue? How many service orders are requested? How many negative customer outcomes are occurring?
- It's been identified that these proposed solutions will not provide 100% coverage of every service order requested. Please identify the percentage of service orders each proposed solution will cover?
- What is the extent of the customer impact for each proposed solution. How long will a customer be without power when each solution does not provide coverage (that is, how long does it take to rectify the negative impact to the customer)?

(Action item 0712-02).

The IEC asked that the B2B-WG be thanked for their ongoing commitment in trying to resolve this issue. (Action 0712-03).

11. Update on B2B-WG Activities

Mark Riley (AGL) spoke to the activities of the B2B-WG.

There have been two main items being discussed:

- Coincident service orders
- Shared Fuse communications

The B2B-WG has started looking at the B2B guide to update the document and bring it into line with the current processes as the guide still references when Power of Choice commences.

In addition, the B2B technical guide limits the schema to the Australian 1999 standards and require updating to 2017 standards.

A workshop with industry in regard to the life support processes was also held to ensure alignment in the way transactions were sent and received.

Other Business
